

GIARDINA GROUP ANSWERS FROM GIARDINA GROUP...

...to a market that in recent years has been strongly committed to increasing the level of technological solutions also in coating applications. This is definitely the result of a natural process of industrial growth, but also of the need to go beyond the limits set by sanctions that still affect the market, choosing to "bring home" the production of elements previously purchased abroad. So, technical and technological skills and expertise are improving in the country, which is adopting the most advanced technology to keep high competitive standards.

It's not mere chance that Giardina Group comes to Lesdrevmash with its flagship machine, a "Dualtech 415 SBC" sprayer in the version with paper belt, combining high performance and top flexibility; the "throwaway" paper substrate actually allows to change process and color very quickly, eliminating the problem of washing cycle time typical of other solutions.

"We have been working in Russia for several decades – commented Carlo di Cerbo, area manager Russia – and also in recent years, despite the ruble depreciation, we have been expanding our business. This is definitely an important market for us, where we make significant revenues. This year we have sold five solutions, including three big lines for established customers and high-end spraying machines to companies that are approaching a new way of coating, looking for productivity, reliability and finished product quality. To achieve this, they are ready to invest in Giardina Group technology, as we have always been a reference for high finishing quality. And not only in this market".
